

Apocalypse

Alright, we need to get real about this. A War declared. A virus pandemic. Same difference, really. Say what? One minute we're sipping coffee at the café, and next, Boom! Chaos. That's sounds a bit extreme and paranoid don't you think! Everyone's out to kill you, or at least control your every move. That's how you survive the first 24 hours, baby, by being a paranoid, calculating machine! A calculating machine? Exactly! Watch out for armed busses or tanks, guys wearing hazmat suits, or drones whizzing in the air. Don't be a target. Well, first off, stay alert. Stay hidden Like the invisible man! You gotta be ready to disappear in an instant" Alright, alright...think of it like this, when the zombies show up at your doorstep, instead of shuffling around, they're going to be shouting slogans or brandishing machine guns. It ain't gonna be pretty outside I mean, think about the traffic It's like trying to outrun a bear in the woods with all these people, that is no easy feat. Staying hidden is key.
